

Daily Activities Checklist

We all know that creating a schedule can be really helpful, especially while we are practicing social distancing and spending more time in our homes. We also know that it can be really fun to try new things that can jumpstart our imaginations for what health might look like at home! This document, which will continue to be updated throughout the season, is a Checklist of Daily Activities to help us continue to “Work the Wheel” and practice growing our strengths. It is broken into Morning, Afternoon, and Evening sections and by the eight different strengths on the Wheel. We hope you have fun while practicing your Wheel-work this season!

FAMILY SUPPORT

MORNING

- Develop a morning ritual to greet the day. Invite your family to participate!
- Make someone in your household breakfast in bed or prepare their favorite morning drink (tea, coffee, hot chocolate, juice, etc.).
- Make eggs several different ways for your family or roommates: sunny side up, scrambled, over easy, poached...
- Have a family dance party at breakfast!
- Write a positive note on a family member's bathroom mirror.
- Send a hand-written note to someone. Wash your hands beforehand!
- Write your grandparent a handwritten letter! Visit The Postman's Knock for tips.
- Make a phone date with those who are medically fragile.
- Call someone in your life who feels like a parental figure and ask them questions about their childhood: "Tell me about your first kiss!"
- Play QUINGO with your family!

AFTERNOON

- Teach your dog a new trick!
- Write a silly joke on the toilet paper for others to find!
- Start a new craft with a family member, either in person or over FaceTime!
- Create a family tree of either your chosen family or the family you were born into.
- Make a DIY cooking video with your family!
- Pull out 3-5 ingredients that you have in the pantry and challenge a family member to create a delicious dish for the whole family.
- Catch up with extended family on Facetime.
- Call an older relative and ask them to tell you about a difficult time they lived through, and ask about what helped them to survive and heal.
- Write a note to someone to say that you consider them part of your chosen family.
- Look at old photos.

EVENING

- Eat dinner together with your family.
- Invite everyone to share a memory of a time when they couldn't stop laughing.
- Check out or Strengths at Home Resource for family dinner conversation starters.
- Create a scavenger hunt for younger siblings with clues and small surprises around your house or yard.
- Host a family fashion show, where everyone wears at least one piece of clothing belonging to someone else.
- Play the Sources Board Game with your family.
- Host a long distance movie night with people in and outside of your family on Let's Gaze.
- Tell a family member you love them before going to bed.

POSITIVE FRIENDS

MORNING

- Text 3 friends a picture of your morning cup of coffee.
- Invite friends to download the LongWalks App for guided group journal entries to keep in touch with how you're doing mentally and emotionally.
- Learn a few moves and lead a yoga or workout class via FaceTime, Zoom, or Instagram Live.
- Post a #whathelpsus Instagram story about what is helping you with Anger, Anxiety, or Depression during COVID-19! Tag 10 friends and challenge them to do the same.
- Create a Tik Tok dance about what's giving you strength, and challenge your friends to do the same!
- Challenge a friend to a laugh-off. Send a Marco Polo, video, or voice message with your best laugh, and follow up with, "Tag, you're it!"
- Kindness to Comedy: send a positive message to a group text of friends, then follow it with a hilarious meme, GIF, or video.
- Write an old-fashioned postcard or letter to a friend and send it in the snail mail. "Just sayin' hey!"

AFTERNOON

- Ask your Positive Friends to subscribe to a daily text from you. Subscriptions could include dad jokes, cute animals, funny babies, memes, etc.
- Cribs COVID-19 Edition: give your friends a tour of your house or room!
- Start a neighborhood scavenger hunt.
- Marco Polo an old friend.
- Watch a makeup tutorial on Youtube with a friend and then try to recreate the look. Facetime each other to show the end product!
- Challenge your friends to see who can get a QUINGO: Sources of Strength Quarantine BINGO!
- Make a virtual care package for a friend with online cards, poems, or animal videos. Include a personal note about what you enjoy about them.
- Host a virtual coffee house on Zoom to discuss how you are leaning into your strengths during quarantine.

EVENING

- Eat dinner with your Positive Friends on Zoom or Facetime.
- Make a shared playlist with friends on Spotify.
- Send someone who may feel less connected a text or Marco Polo asking them how they're doing and wishing them a good night.
- Share your Nintendo Switch player code or your favorite gaming code with a friend and battle it out!
- Host a virtual trivia night where participants text the "host" their answers.
- Host a virtual games night on the HouseParty App!
- Share your Netflix password with a Positive Friend.
- Host a long distance movie night with friends on Netflix Party. After the movie, pick a character and talk about what strengths they showed and what strengths they could have taken better advantage of.

MENTORS

MORNING

- Send a mentor a baby animal video, a TED Talk, or an article on a topic you know they enjoy! Remind them to take care of themselves as well.
- Reflect on someone who once gave you tough feedback that challenged you to become a better person. Send them a thank you note through email, LinkedIn, or Facebook to tell them about the positive impact they had on you.
- Be a mentor to a younger family member by making a pillow fort with them.
- Take a moment to consider someone you would like to get to know better in a mentoring relationship. How might you take the first step?
- Email your teachers and ask them to begin each online class assignment with the question, "What are you thankful for today?"
- Ask a mentor for a book recommendation! Plan to chat with them about the book once you have finished reading it.

AFTERNOON

- Write a thank you note to a person who has had a positive impact on your life.
- Pick one at-home hobby you want to master (woodworking, cooking, painting, building, sewing, fitness, music, etc.) and make a list of the people and resources who can help you get there.
- Make a list of all the skills you've ever learned and the people who helped you learn them.
- Reach out to one person you follow on Instagram who you admire and ask them for advice!
- Watch a TED Talk by a thinker you admire.
- Create an art project (collage, mosaic, poem, painting, etc.) representing the ways a mentor has added to your life. Then share it with them!
- Reach out to a mentor to ask how they are leaning into their strengths at home.

EVENING

- Ask the best cook in your home (or online!) to teach how to make something new for dinner.
- Be a mentor to a younger family member by teaching them a skill that you have.
- Be a mentor to a younger family member by helping them manage their Big Emotions of Anger, Anxiety, or Sadness.
- Text or email a mentor or Trusted Adult, thanking them for their support and wishing them a good night.

HEALTHY ACTIVITIES
